About the Heritage Commission

Introduction

Thank you for volunteering to be a member of Oak Bay's Heritage Commission.

The Heritage Commission plays an important role in advising Council and helping preserve the heritage of our community in our modern context. The members bring valuable perspective on the heritage and sense of community in Oak Bay and play an important role in helping Council to address a variety of heritage-related land use matters and other heritage considerations as referred or approved by Council.

Matters related to heritage conservation by a local government are regulated quite specifically by Part 15 of British Columbia's Local Government Act. In addition to considering matters related to heritage conservation as outlined in the Local Government Act, the Oak Bay Heritage Commission has a mandate to advise Council on a range of heritage matters. These are spelled out in the Heritage Commission establishing Bylaw No. 4770, which was adopted in 2020. The bylaw is included in this manual as Schedule A. The role and mandate of the Heritage Commission are described in detail in the following pages.

While Heritage Commission members are sought for the personal skills they bring to the Commission, they are expected to represent the collective desires of the community in their recommendations.

We hope this manual will be helpful to you in your role with the Heritage Commission.

Mandate

The mandate of the Heritage Commission is clearly laid out in the establishing bylaw for the Commission (Schedule A). You are expected to provide professional and community advice to assist Council and Staff on a variety of heritage matters.

Specifically, the Heritage Commission establishing Bylaw 4770 sets out the following mandate:

To advise Council on a range of community heritage matters, including:

(a) Reviewing and making recommendations to Council on the content and maintenance of the Community Heritage Register, including related Statements of Significance as drafted by staff or consultants;

(b) Reviewing staff reports and related heritage documentation regarding proposed heritage designations, Heritage Revitalization Agreements, or other forms of preservation that may be registered against title to real property, for input and advice to Council;

(c) Reviewing existing and proposed District plans, strategies or other regulatory initiatives for input and advice to Council pertaining to heritage conservation, including any planning initiatives related to Heritage Conservation Areas and the Oak Bay Heritage Plan;

(d) Reviewing and making recommendations to Council on select development applications, including:

a. Development applications within Heritage Conservation Areas (“HCA”), to support compliance with the HCA guidelines in the Official Community Plan; and,

b. Development applications, including Heritage Alteration Permit applications, relative to review of the heritage-related aspects of the proposed redevelopments.

(e) any other heritage matter referred by Council.

In addition, the bylaw gives the Heritage Commission the opportunity to undertake heritage-related projects through an annual Work Plan that you develop for Council approval.

This document is intended to provide information and context; it is not a legal document

Where there is a conflict between a District bylaw or provincial legislation and this manual, the bylaw or legislation will prevail

The Heritage Commission is an advisory body to Council. The Commission has no decision making responsibility or authority and does not establish policy

Functions

The specific functions of the Heritage Commission are:

- Respond to issues referred by Council and Staff
- Provide advice and recommendations to Council or Staff
- Bring a community lens to the table when deliberating matters before the Commission that fall within its mandate
- Provide information or advice to Council or Staff on specific issues related to its mandate as requested
- Develop and implement an annual Work Plan as approved by Council

As an Advisory Body to Council, the Heritage Commission plays an important role in considering heritage matters and applications that could have long term impact on our community.

It is therefore critical that members of the Commission, both as individuals and as a collective group, take care to understand the issues at hand and approach matters with an open and enquiring mind when developing recommendations. During discussion and deliberation, you must bear in mind the Commission mandate as laid out in the establishing Bylaw 4770, together with legislation, policies and other guidelines such as:

- Oak Bay Official Community Plan
- Zoning Bylaw
- Local Government Act
- Council Strategic Priorities
- Other relevant legislation or policies

Membership

Volunteering for the Heritage Commission is an opportunity for citizens to become actively involved in our community and provide in-depth consideration of heritage-related planning issues.

Composition

The Commission is composed of up to seven volunteer members appointed by Council. In making appointments, Council seeks to ensure that members represent all parts of Oak Bay. Up to two members of the Commission may also serve as Directors on the Oak Bay Heritage Foundation, and no more than two members may live outside Oak Bay.

The Commission is rounded out by one non-voting Council member liaison appointed by the Mayor, one Staff Liaison and a Recorder.

Terms

Members are appointed by Council for one term at a time, generally starting in January. Terms are generally two years, as determined by Council. If you wish to serve beyond your initial term, you may apply to be reappointed to the Commission for each additional term, and may serve up to a total of six years.

Generally, members who have served the maximum of six years must step away from the Commission for at least one term, unless Council deems their reappointment to be necessary for expertise and continuity purposes.

If a Commission member resigns before the end of their term, Council may appoint a replacement to complete the remainder of the term. If the replacement wishes to continue as a member of the Commission, they would apply for reappointment at the appropriate time.

A member who misses three successive Commission meetings except because of illness or as previously approved by Council, is considered to have resigned from the Commission.

Chair and Vice Chair

The Commission has a Chair and Vice Chair, who are elected at the first meeting of each year by the members to serve for the current term. The Chair is responsible to manage Commission meetings, and to work with staff to develop meeting agendas. The Vice Chair serves as Chair in his or her absence. The Chair and Vice Chair may serve no more than two consecutive years in the position.

Guiding Documents

Familiarity with the relevant parts of the Local Government Act and Community Charter, the District's Official Community Plan and Zoning Bylaw, and some provisions of the Heritage Conservation Act will be important to you in your role as a Commission member.

Local Government Act

Part 15 of the BC Local Government Act lays out the requirements for local governments to follow in making decision related to heritage conservations matters. Specific matters that may come before the Heritage Commission for consideration include the Heritage Register, Heritage Revitalization Agreements, Heritage Designation Protection and Heritage Alteration Permits..

Official Community Plan

The Official Community Plan (OCP) represents a vision for the future and is a framework to guide growth and decisions about the use of land and the character of the community. The OCP and its related Schedules describe how and where residential, commercial and other types of development will occur; guide the provision of necessary road, water, sewer and other infrastructure; and provide policies for environmental, economic and community well-being.

In addition to Heritage being stated as a goal in the OCP on pages 8 and 9, heritage considerations are captured in other OCP goals, including Neighbourhoods and Built Environment.

Prospect Heritage Conservation Area

Oak Bay has designated the Prospect neighbourhood as a Heritage Conservation Area in the Official Community Plan. Under the Local Government Act, a local government may designate a Heritage conservation area for “the purposes of heritage conservation”, including to protect the buildings, structures, land or features that contribute to the overall heritage character of a neighbourhood or distinct areas.

More information on the Prospect Heritage Conservation Area can be found starting on page 194 of the OCP.

Zoning Bylaw

The District's principal land use regulatory bylaw, the Zoning Bylaw divides the area it covers into zones (and can also divide the area above sites into "vertical zones"). For each zone, local government can regulate the use of land, building and structures; the density of use, buildings and structures; the siting, size and dimension of buildings and structures; and the area, shape and dimensions of parcels created by subdivision

The regulations may be different for different zones, uses within a zone, standards of works and services provided, or siting circumstance.

Heritage-Specific Planning Tools

The Heritage Commission plays a key role in the District's planning process, considering and making recommendations for development and other applications as prescribed in the Local Government Act and Oak Bay's Official Community Plan, Zoning Bylaw and other planning-related regulations.

Below are heritage preservation tools available to local governments that the Heritage Commission may be asked to consider as part of this process.

Heritage Designation

By bylaw, heritage designation can provide long-term protection to a single property, a portion of a property (exterior, interior, landscape features) or more than one property. Designation can prohibit demolition, structural alterations, and land changes, and alterations to specified exterior, interior fixtures, and landscaping. If designation of a property causes a reduction in the market value of the property at the time of designation, the local government must compensate the owner.

Heritage Revitalization Agreements and Covenants

Allow a local government to negotiate terms of a contractual agreement with a property owner to protect a site. In addition, heritage revitalization agreements can vary or supplement numerous bylaw and permit conditions, including:

- Zoning and subdivision requirements (including use and density)
- Development cost recovery
- Development permits
- Heritage alteration permits

Heritage Conservation Areas

Local governments can define special areas in the OCP to provide long-term protection to a distinctive heritage area. Heritage conservation areas may require a heritage alteration permit for subdivision, building additions, new construction or alteration of an existing building, structure, land, or feature.

Community Heritage Register

A Heritage Register is an official list of properties that have heritage value or character for a community. The register can facilitate the use of other Local Government Act Part 15 heritage protection powers. The register allows a local government to temporarily withhold approval for an action that would lead to alteration of a listed heritage property; temporarily withhold a demolition permit; require an impact assessment to determine the effect of a proposed development on a heritage property, before the development takes place.

Although not a planning tool, the Standards and Guidelines for the Conservation of Historic Places in Canada lay out 9 areas for consideration in relation to preserving heritage sites and properties, and will help to inform staff and Commission recommendations regarding heritage preservation.

About the Role of the Heritage Commission

The Planning Process

A key component of the work of the Heritage Commission is to provide recommendations to Council on heritage-related land use matters. In general, land use planning means the scientific, aesthetic, and orderly disposition of land, resources, facilities and services with a view to securing the physical, economic and social efficiency, health and well-being of urban and rural communities.

Good planning involves many elements and stages that bring together people, communities and the environment. In addition, sustainability is a key principle in local land use planning.

The work of the Community Building and Planning Services Department staff, and by extension, the work of the Heritage Commission, is guided by Council-approved policy. Well defined and thoughtful heritage planning objectives and policies provide the public, business owners, and other stakeholders a high degree of certainty for the future. Oak Bay's overarching planning and land use objectives are articulated in the Official Community Plan and reflected in our Zoning Bylaw and other bylaws and policies related to land use such as parking and signage.

When considering matters related to land use, including Heritage Alteration Permits, Heritage Designations, or recommending additions to the Community Heritage Register, the Heritage Commission must also be aware of broader community land use planning principles. Staff will provide this context in reports presented to the Commission on heritage matters.

Roles in the Planning Process

Council

Council is the ultimate decision-making body with respect to adopting and amending the OCP, Zoning and related Bylaws and amendments, and approving land use related permits as required under the Local Government Act. For heritage purposes, Council makes the final decision on Heritage Alteration Permits, designation of a Heritage Conservation Area, Heritage Designation matters and changes to the Community Heritage Register. Council also appoints one member to serve as the Council Liaison on the Heritage Commission.

Heritage Commission

The Heritage Commission has the responsibility of giving advice and acting as a community lens on heritage-related land use matters and applications. While the Commission's role is advisory, it involves a unique set of responsibilities and is an important part of the land use process.

The Heritage Commission advises Council on the following:

- Content and maintenance of the Community Heritage Register, including Statements of Significance as drafted by staff or consultants
- Heritage designations, Heritage Revitalization Agreements, or other forms of preservation that may be registered against a property's title
- Proposed District plans, strategies or other heritage conservation regulatory initiatives, including planning items related to Heritage Conservation Areas and the Oak Bay Heritage Plan
- Development applications within Heritage Conservation Areas
- Development applications, including Heritage Alteration Permit applications, relative to the heritage-related aspects of the proposed redevelopments
- Any other heritage matter referred by Council.

Applications are formally reviewed by the Heritage Commission following completion of the review process by Staff and any other District committees if required, including the Advisory Design Panel and/or the Advisory Planning Commission.

Staff

Department Staff are the technical experts on land use matters. They work closely with applicants throughout the planning process, and provide comprehensive reports regarding applications that go to the Heritage Commission and Council for review. One department Staff member is appointed to the Commission as a staff resource and liaison, and other District Staff may attend meetings to provide additional technical advice as needed. The Staff Liaison also works with the Chair in developing meeting agendas. A Staff member will act as Recorder and take minutes at the meetings.

The Staff Liaison is the main contact for all members who require information about the Commission itself, contents of an agenda, or other related matters. You are encouraged to reach out to the Staff Liaison with any questions you may have.

Scope of Analysis

A review of applications and referrals by the Heritage Commission is intended to complement the technical review provided by staff. After review and discussion, with assistance and input from staff as appropriate, the Commission will pass a resolution with the appropriate recommendation for Council.

The information and analysis from the Heritage Commission represent a special combination of subjective and objective observations that only community members could bring to the discussion. Staff will provide an outline of specific characteristics that must be considered with respect to heritage considerations and/or regulations, and explain the regulatory authority from which they are derived. This will guide the Commission in its discussion, and focus your discussion on the matters that are within your authority to address.

It is also important for Commission members to remember that other bodies such as the Advisory Planning Commission and the Advisory Design Panel may also be reviewing applications with their own lens.

Although the scope of review for the Heritage Commission may at times seem rather limiting in the broader scheme of overall land use and the need to preserve heritage, it is important to remember that you have been chosen for both your heritage knowledge and your community commitment in relation to the Commission's mandate.

Heritage Work Plan

The Heritage Commission Bylaw 4770 states that the Commission may develop and submit an Annual Work Plan to Council for approval. The Work Plan's proposed projects, initiatives and volunteer development activities (conferences, workshops) should align with Council's current strategic priorities and other District plans and strategies, including the Oak Bay Heritage Plan and the Official Community Plan.

It is also important in developing a work plan to set a realistic budget and make sure that there is capacity within the organization or the commission itself to carry out the work.

Developing the Work Plan each year is a collaborative process between Commission members and Department staff.

The Commission should aim to develop its work Plan early in the fall for the following year. This gives time for the Plan to be reviewed by the Chief Administrative Officer and Chief Financial Officer to make sure it is realistic in terms of both budget and staff capacity, and is appropriately aligned with Council's strategic priorities and/or addresses an identified need in the community.

The Commission is also required to report out to Council each year on its Work Plan progress. This report can be combined with presentation of the new Work Plan for the coming year.

The 2022 Heritage Commission Work Plan is attached as Schedule J for reference.

Professional Development

The annual Work Plan usually includes a budget for professional development for Commission members. This could involve attending a conference, but in recent practice, Commission members partake in heritage-related webinars and discuss what they have learned and how it relates to Oak Bay. This is an ideal opportunity to understand heritage legislation and related issues to inform your work as a Commission member.

Other Planning Considerations

Council Strategic Priorities

Council's strategic priorities guide policy and action for the District in the current term. It is important for Heritage commission members to take these priorities into account not only when reviewing land use applications, but especially when considering other land use matters that Council might refer to the Commission. The current priorities, outlined in the diagram, will be achieved by:

Diverse Housing: reviewing and planning for community needs while reflecting Oak Bay's unique character
Achieve Sustainable Service Delivery: integrating an Asset Management Program with a long-term Financial Plan

Service Excellence: optimizing operational effectiveness and fostering public engagement

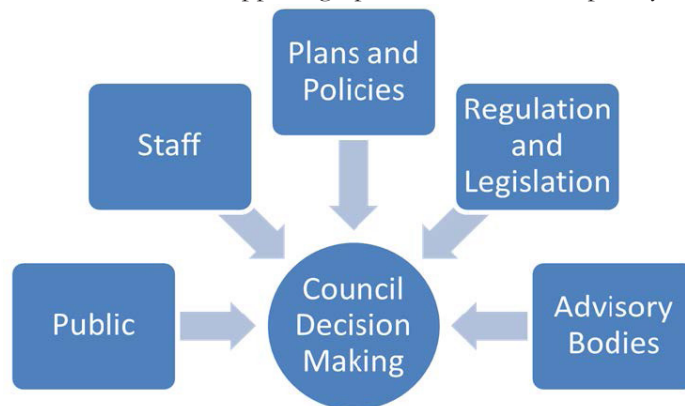

Quality of Life: stewarding the community's history, landscape, culture, and amenities within the context of southern Vancouver Island

Community Health and Resilience: committing to economic, environmental, and social sustainability within the District's operations and decision making

Council Decision Making

Advisory bodies like the Heritage Commission play a key role in helping Council make decisions for the well-being of the community, along with other important input that contributes to a well-rounded decision-making process. Recommendations from Advisory Bodies and Staff are two of multiple inputs to the decision making process, and Council's decision on a given matter does not always align with their recommendations when multiple other factors are taken into account. This is a foundational piece of understanding that all those associated with the District accept with respect and tolerance for sometimes opposing opinions and the complexity of Council's governance and decision making.

Conducting Heritage Commission Business

Meetings

Meeting agendas are prepared by Staff in consultation with the Commission Chair

Minutes are taken by Staff following the format outlined in Schedule H

The Heritage Commission typically meets once a month for a maximum of two hours, and meetings are generally held at the Municipal Hall. Our goal is to provide the agenda to each member five days before the scheduled meeting. Agendas are also published on the District's website. A meeting may be cancelled if there are no applications or Council referrals to consider; however, if the Commission has an active Work Plan, there should always be a reason to meet in order to review progress.

Meetings are based on the meeting format outlined in the Council Procedure Bylaw and use 'Robert's Rules of Order' to facilitate discussion, as this allows everyone to be heard and to make decisions fairly without confusion.

Agenda

The format for Heritage Commission meeting agendas generally follows the format outlined in Schedule G. Agenda packages are published five days before the meeting, and will include Staff reports and application-related materials. If you have questions about anything in the agenda, you are encouraged to contact the Staff Liaison before the meeting to give them adequate time to research the response and provide the information to all Commission members.

Public Attendance & Participation

Heritage Commission meetings are open to the public and meeting agendas are posted on the District website and at Municipal Hall. Applicants whose project is on the agenda are generally given the opportunity to speak. A Heritage Commission meeting is not to be confused with a public hearing meeting, which is when members of the public can provide comment directly to Council regarding rezoning or OCP amendments. Members of the public may not make verbal or written submissions to the Heritage Commission.

The Commission may invite experts on matters related to the Work Plan or the Commission's professional development priorities to attend a meeting for discussion on predetermined topics. Such invitations must be decided in advance and form part of the formal meeting agenda.

Voting and Quorum

In order for the Heritage Commission to meet and make recommendations there must be a quorum, or simple majority, of the voting members. With a full complement of seven volunteer members, quorum is four. If there is no quorum 15 minutes after the meeting start time, the meeting will be adjourned. This could result in projects being delayed or Council proceeding without advice from the Commission, so it is important that you attend the meetings and arrive on time.

All members of the Commission must vote on all recommendations unless they have declared a conflict of interest and left the meeting. Any member who abstains from voting will be deemed to have voted in favour of the motion. In the case of a tie vote, the motion will be considered defeated.

Recommendations

When you are tasked with considering heritage-related applications and any other matters referred to the Commission, you are required to make a corresponding recommendation to Council. The Commission's application review process (provided in more detail in the establishing Bylaw, Schedule A in this manual) is as follows:

Staff carry out an initial review of the application and prepare a report for the Commission. A copy of the application is included in the agenda package. At the meeting, the Staff Liaison will introduce the application and the applicant has the opportunity to address the Commission, and to answer questions

The Commission will review the merits of the application as follows:

- Development applications within Heritage Conservation Areas ("HCA"), to support compliance with the HCA guidelines in the Official Community Plan
- Development applications including Heritage Alteration Permit applications, relative to review of the heritage-related aspects of the proposed redevelopments.

The Commission will then vote on the application by recommending, in the form of a resolution, one of the following:

1. Recommend to approve the application
2. Recommend to approve the application, with heritage considerations, including the nature of any change that would lead to approval (which should be clearly stated in the resolution)
3. Recommend not to approve the application, with clearly stated reasons specific to the mandate of the Commission based on the heritage considerations relative to the application

Should the Commission have additional comments or concerns, you may choose to make a second resolution, however, always within the context of the Commission's mandate and the Establishing Bylaw. The Establishing Bylaw does not allow the Commission to refer an application to a future meeting pending further information or amendments to the application.

After the meeting, Staff will review the discussion and recommendation with the applicant, who will have the opportunity to make any recommended changes to the application before it goes to Council. Staff will prepare a report for Council, which will include the Panel's recommendation and any subsequent amendments by the applicant to satisfy any considerations. Council will make the final decision on the application

The recommendation that the Commission arrives at may well be different from the options provided by Staff, which is a perfectly acceptable outcome after you have carefully considered the application and the options during your discussions. Remember, however, that your decision must be based on the information presented to you and on your mandate. Similarly, Council will give your recommendations careful consideration, but will ultimately make their own decision based on a variety of factors and input from a number of sources in addition to the Advisory Bodies.

The Commission may, by way of resolution, refer other issues raised at meetings for Council consideration if appropriate. Should you wish to refer a matter in this way, it must fall within your mandate, fit into the current Council priorities and help achieve Council objectives. It is important to remember as well that Staff work is directed by Council priorities and current applications and there may not be capacity to take on new initiatives.

Expectations

Heritage Commission members are expected to conduct themselves with professionalism, providing well-considered and timely responses to Council and Staff as appropriate. Members should endeavour to carry out their work effectively, efficiently and creatively, while maintaining actual and perceived separation from influences that could disrupt thoroughness, balance and objectivity in recommendations. This becomes increasingly important when you consider, individually and collectively, how heritage-related applications fit into established policies and legislation such as the District's Official Community Plan and Zoning Bylaw, as well as Council's priorities.

In addition, there are several District of Oak Bay policies that directly apply to Advisory Body members in terms of expectations regarding conduct. These include the Respectful Workplace Policy, Council Code of Conduct and the Committee and Commission Policy. Copies of these policies are provided in the Schedules to this Manual.

While Heritage Commission members are appointed for the personal skills and knowledge you bring to the Commission, you are expected to represent to the best of your ability the desires of the community in your recommendations or findings.

Council recognizes the value of your commitment in terms of your time, helpful ideas and expertise. In return, you can expect Council and Staff to provide:

- Commitment from Council to refer heritage matters to the Commission for consideration as they arise
- Full information on the issues being addressed and effective staff support
- Orientation and training
- Prompt feedback on the outcomes of your advice and recommendations

It is important to be aware that the public also has expectations of you -- that you will represent the interests of the community as a whole, and that you are fair, objective and respectful in your considerations. Finally, it is vital that you avoid any real or perceived conflict of interest (see page 20 for more on Conflict of Interest).

Objectivity

Deciding on a recommendation can be a complex matter. Heritage Commission members may face pressures to influence a decision. Such pressures may include the following:

Peer Pressure

You may have social, professional or business contacts with people who have interest in applications pending before the Commission. Such contacts may be the source of relevant information, but they should not be permitted to influence your decision-making before deliberations begin.

Applicant Pressure

It is understandable that applicants want their files reviewed with a favourable outcome. All statements made by applicants must be carefully evaluated, and the Commission needs to review each proposal on its own merits.

Political Pressure

The Heritage Commission should seek to have an effective and on-going dialogue with Council, as this helps create a more cooperative and productive relationship through which the interests of the community can be incorporated into decisions. However, members of Council should not seek to influence members of the Commission. Commission members should use their own judgment in casting votes, to help to promote good heritage planning. Commission and Council members should never meet to discuss applications outside of formally scheduled meetings.

Fairness & Legal Soundness

As representatives of the entire community, members should be continually aware of the obligation to be fair and impartial. All issues before the Heritage Commission must be treated equitably. You should identify objective reasons for decisions you make as a group, dealing with the merits of the issue in terms of the Commission mandate and the applicable legislation and/or guidelines, and not based on personal bias.

The District is legally limited in its ability to control and regulate private land. You should at least be generally aware of these limits so that the focus of your discussions and recommendations does not exceed the District's authority to act.

Members should endeavor to carry out their work effectively, efficiently and creatively, while maintaining a separation from influences that could disrupt thoroughness, balance and objectivity in recommendations

It is expected that all members will conduct themselves appropriately and adhere to procedural rules

Conflict of Interest

Procedures for conduct where a conflict of interest exists are prescribed in the Community Charter Sections 100 to 101, as well as the Committee and Commission Policy, Schedule B in this manual. A conflict of interest exists where a Heritage Commission member is an interested party to an application or process under consideration by the Commission and/or the member has a direct or indirect pecuniary interest in the outcome of the Commission's deliberations.

The following excerpt from the UBCM Advisory Service Fact Sheet Series, No. 15: Conflict of Interest, describes some typical scenarios relating to conflicts of interest:

Conflicts often occur between the member's public duty and his or her personal, business or property interests. The courts treat personal, business or property interests of a spouse, child, parent, partner, client (or in some cases, a corporation) of the member the same way they treat the interests of the member. If the member is in any way involved in a matter before Council that actually advances (or appears to advance) any of these interests, a conflict of interest may arise.

Business Interests

A member has a conflict of interest if he or she votes on a matter that helps his or her own business, or hinders the competition.

Property Interests

If a member votes on a land use bylaw that makes his or her own property sub-dividable, or more or less valuable in any way, a conflict arises.

Family Interests

If a member votes on a matter that is to be the benefit or disadvantage of spouse, child or parent, as in increasing salary or increasing or decreasing property values, a conflict arises. ”

If you think you have a conflict of interest in a matter before the Heritage Commission, you:

- Must declare to the Commission that a conflict exists
- Must not take part in the discussion of the matter or vote on a question in respect of the matter
- Must remove yourself from the meeting during consideration of the issue and not attempt to influence the vote (this is to be reflected in the meeting minutes). If you are participating electronically, you will be placed in the meeting's virtual waiting room.

RULES OF INTERPRETATION

In this Policy, the term “Advisory Body” refers to a Committee or a Commission, and the term “Advisory Bodies” refers to both. The use of the word “advisory” shall not limit, in any manner, Council’s authority under the Community Charter to delegate (by bylaw) further powers, duties and functions to a Committee or Commission, to the extent provided within the Act.

PRINCIPLES

1. Municipal Governance and Decision Making

Municipal Council is the main governing and legislative body of the District of Oak Bay and is made up of the Mayor and six (6) Councillors who are elected at large for a four-year term. Council receives input from Members of the public, staff, Advisory Bodies (i.e. Committees and Commissions), and other sources to inform governance decisions and plans.

Committees and Commissions provide advice and recommendations to Council on matters related to their mandate or referred to them by Council. In some cases, Council may, by bylaw, delegate further powers, duties and functions to Committees and Commissions, to the extent provided within the Community Charter. The mandate of a Committee or Commission is outlined in the Terms of Reference or Establishing Bylaw as approved by Council.

Staff are employees of the District of Oak Bay, who provide professional advice and expertise to Council, implement Council's decisions and Strategic Priorities, and enforce the rules established by Council and relevant legislation. Staff are also responsible for municipal operations dependent upon Council's allocation of resources.

Members of the Public include residents, property owners, business owners or other stakeholders involved in the community. There is a broad spectrum of direct and indirect ways that the public may be involved and contribute to Council's decision-making process. The public may provide input to Council during public consultation opportunities such as Public Hearings, the budget process and public input periods as per the District's current Council Procedure Bylaw. Another way is serving on a Council Committee or Commission.

Unless provided for in the applicable Terms of Reference or Establishing Bylaw, members of the public do not present to Advisory Bodies. This is in order to allow the Committee or Commission Members to focus on the matter before them, and to direct all public input to Council as the District's main governing and decision making body, as per the District's current Council Procedure Bylaw, as amended from time to time.

Public input, while an important component of Council's decision-making, is not a requirement for an Advisory Body to make a recommendation for Council's consideration (see Figure 1). The public may observe the proceedings of the Advisory Body meeting and will have an opportunity to provide input to Council as noted above, during regular Council or Committee of the Whole meetings, Public Hearings, public consultation opportunities or by submitting written comments as outlined in the District's current Council Procedure Bylaw.

2. Basis for Establishing Committees and Commissions

For the District of Oak Bay, Council Committees and Commissions are primarily established to augment Council's governance role and associated decision making. Participation as a Member of an Advisory Body also provides an additional opportunity for Members of the public to serve the community.

When considering the establishment of Committees and Commissions, Council will consider alignment with each of the following:

- Council's Strategic Plan and identified priorities and corporate objectives
- the Official Community Plan and the identified goals
- the Five-year Financial Plan and allocated resources
- Council procedures to establish Committees and Commissions as outlined in the Council Procedure Bylaw and in this Policy.

The mandates for each Committee and Commission should directly assist Council and the organization in achieving its strategic priorities and corporate objectives. Refer to Appendix "A" for a detailed description of the types of Committees or Commissions that may be established in accordance with the Community Charter or Local Government Act.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

The main role of District of Oak Bay Committees and Commissions is to provide advice and recommendations to Council on matters related to their mandate or referred to them by Council. The Advisory Bodies and/or their respective Chairs will be invited to provide input to Council through means of a Member survey or similar consultation method. The Terms of Reference and Establishing Bylaw for each Committee or Commission will also be put before Council as part of the review process.

The first review shall take place approximately one year from the adoption of this Policy. Following that, a regular review shall take place bi-annually. COMPLAINT RESOLUTION PROCEDURES

Informal Process

Employees who believe they have been the subject of discrimination, harassment or bullying are encouraged to resolve the situation informally by making their concern known to the other party. This is an important step to ensure that the other party knows that his or her conduct is unwelcome. If after discussing a complaint with the other party, the complaint is dealt with to an individual's satisfaction, the issue is considered to be resolved. If the employee is uncomfortable informing the other party that their actions are unwelcome, they may seek assistance from a supervisor, manager, union representative or Human Resources Manager. The supervisor, manager, union representative or Human Resources Manager will meet with the parties (either separately or together) and attempt to mediate a resolution that is acceptable to both parties. If a solution is reached, the complaint will be deemed resolved.

All persons who believe that they have experienced discrimination, harassment or bullying should keep detailed notes about the issue.

Formal Process

In the event that the matter is not resolved to the Complainant's satisfaction, or if the employee chooses not to proceed informally, the employee may proceed with a formal complaint.

1. To file a formal complaint, the Complainant must complete a Respectful Workplace Complaint Form (Appendix A) and forward it to the individual(s) designated for the management of formal complaints as follows:
 - Human Resources Manager for all complaints except for those employees in the Human Resources Department
 - The Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) for complaints involving employees in the Human Resources Department or a member of Council

Depending on the circumstances, the Human Resources Manager or CAO may also consider first attempting an informal resolution if such has not already been taken.

For any complaints involving Council (including the Mayor), the CAO will appoint an external investigator.

2. Once a formal written complaint is received, the designated individual will begin a formal investigation if appropriate and will appoint an internal or external investigator to conduct a confidential investigation of the complaint.

The investigator will:

- notify the Respondent of the allegations of the complaint
- interview the Complainant (for unionized employees, a Union representative may be present at the Complainant's option)
- interview the Respondent (for unionized employees, a Union representative may be present at the Respondent's option)
- interview witnesses as determined by the investigator

Both the Complainant and Respondent will have an opportunity to identify possible witnesses or others to be interviewed. Every effort will be made to complete the investigation and document the findings within a reasonable timeframe.

3. At the conclusion of the investigation:
 - a confidential report including the complaint investigation findings will be presented to individual designated for the management of the complaints. (Human Resources Manager or CAO).
 - The Complainant and the Respondent will be advised of the outcome of the investigation having regard to the privacy interests of all parties.
 - The individual designated for the management of the complaint (Human Resources Manager or CAO) will determine any appropriate corrective or disciplinary action to be taken. (See Section below – Remedies)

APPEAL PROCEDURE

If a Complainant or Respondent is not satisfied with the final decision in respect to the complaint, the following avenues may be considered:

- Unionized employees may speak with their Union about filing a grievance under the Collective Agreement. The timelines for filing a grievance will be applied.

Regional Growth Strategy

Part 25

Regional districts have authority to prepare a regional plan or Regional Growth Strategy (RGS) for the purpose of guiding both municipal and regional district decisions on growth, change and development. The Province can require a regional district to prepare a RGS if a region is experiencing rapid growth. The RGS normally covers the whole regional district, however the Minister can authorize preparation of an RGS at a sub-regional or multi-regional level.

An RGS covers a period of 20 years or more and is intended to focus on key issues that are best managed at a regional scale. Section 429 outlines five essential elements: housing; transportation; regional district services; parks and natural areas; and economic development. The RGS must also include: social, economic and environmental objectives; population and employment projections; targets for GHG emissions in the regional district; and a list of actions required to meet the projected needs for the population. The board has the flexibility to include additional matters.

Consultation with affected parties is required in accordance with section 434. Before the RGS can be adopted it must be referred to affected local governments (member municipalities and adjacent regional districts) for acceptance. Minister's approval is not required, however in the event that there is a conflict in acceptance of the plan the Minister can instruct the parties on the method used to reach agreement.

Once an RGS is adopted, each municipality has 2 years to add a "regional context statement" (RCS) to its official community plan [LGA s. 446]. The RCS sets out the relationship between the RGS and the OCP, and shows how they will become consistent over time. The municipal council refers the RCS to the regional board for acceptance, and the same processes for resolving differences apply as they do for the RGS.

Regional Growth Strategies are implemented in a variety of ways. "Implementation agreements" [LGA s.451] are partnerships between the regional district and other levels of government and other organizations which specify how certain aspects of the RGS will be carried out. For example, the agreement may relate to the construction and funding of new or upgraded highways, sewers, hospitals or regional parks.

Official Community Plan

A municipality or regional district may adopt, by bylaw, one or more Official Community Plans (OCP). The local government can decide the area the plan applies to and the number of plans it wants.

While OCPs do not require the Council or Board to proceed with any project contained in the plan, all bylaws or works undertaken by local government must be consistent with the plan. The plan is a statement of policy and does not directly regulate the use of private property; this is the role of regulatory bylaws such as the zoning bylaw (see below).

An OCP is a statement of objectives and policies to guide planning and land use decisions within the area covered by the plan. The legislation provides a list of purposes and goals that OCPs (and regional growth strategies) should work towards (s. 471 and s. 428). OCPs must contain the content listed in section 473 (s. 429 for Regional Growth Strategies) which includes approximate location, amount and type of land uses. OCPs may contain any of those matters listed in section 474 including policies relating to social needs, enhancement of farming and the natural environment. Section 446 provides a requirement for a regional context statement in OCPs where a Regional Growth Strategy is in place.

In addition to topics identified in the Act, the Minister can require or authorize that policies be developed on other matters.

A local government can include statements in an OCP on matters over which it does not have jurisdiction. Such statements are referred to as "advocacy policies". Advocacy policies may only state the local government's broad objective for areas within provincial jurisdiction [LGA s.474] and their context should clearly indicate that such statements differ in kind from within-jurisdiction policy statements in the plan.

Local governments can enact zoning bylaws without having an OCP in place, however an OCP is required if a local government wants to use development permits. Development permits are discussed below. They are: arguably, the second most important tool available to local government for regulating development (after zoning). The special conditions or objectives that the development permit area is intended to address, must be described in the OCP.

Section 475 requires local governments to provide one or more opportunities for consultation with persons, organizations and authorities that it considers will be affected when adopting, amending or repealing an OCP. This is in addition to the public hearing requirements. Also, at the time of preparing or amending the plan (and not less than once a year) the local government must consult with school boards regarding the planning of school facilities.

To adopt or amend an OCP, a local government must follow the procedures outlined in section 477 of the Act. For regional districts, there is no longer a requirement for Ministerial approval of Regional District OCP, zoning, subdivision servicing, and temporary use bylaws. Ministerial approval is still required for the Resort Municipality of Whistler, the Resort Municipality of Sun Peaks, and Islands Trust. The LGA does provide discretionary authority for the Minister to require approval of regional district bylaws (LGA s. 585). An OCP that applies to land in the Agricultural Land Reserve must be referred to the provincial Agricultural Land Commission.

Zoning Bylaw

The principal land use regulatory bylaw, the zoning bylaw divides the area it covers into zones (and can also divide the area above sites into "vertical zones"). For each zone, local government can regulate:

- the use of land, building and structures (including prohibiting uses);
- the density of use, buildings and structures;
- the siting, size and dimension of buildings and structures; and
- the area, shape and dimensions of parcels created by subdivision (including strata title "bare land" subdivisions) [LGA s. 479].

The regulations may be different for different zones, uses within a zone, standards of works and services provided, (e.g., different parcel sizes when on sewer or on a septic tank) or siting circumstance, (e.g., different setbacks for residences along a watercourse). Like uses must be treated similarly within a zone, (e.g., the rules for single family dwellings in the same zone and in similar circumstances must be applied uniformly).

The zoning bylaw can include incentives for the provision of amenities or affordable housing by establishing higher levels of density if the conditions are met [LGA s.482]. This is sometimes called "bonus zoning" or "density bonusing." The bylaw can only use density as an inducement; it cannot provide for additional uses if the conditions are met.

Rezoning can be initiated by a property owner or by the local government. Rezoning of individual properties, including creating a new zoning category for an individual property, is permitted. If a local government has zoning it must also have a procedures bylaw that establishes the process for owners to apply for rezoning [LGA s. 460] and it must establish a board of variance to whom property owners who face particular hardship can apply for minor relaxations of full compliance with the regulations [LGA s. 536]. A fee to cover the cost of processing the applications may be charged [LGA s. 462]. The council or board must consider any rezoning applications that they receive, but they are not obliged to introduce a bylaw before turning down an application.

The process of responding to an application for a rezoning frequently involves negotiation regarding the nature of the development that the owner intends to build. If the council or board believes that it is in a strong bargaining position it might anticipate that the owner will be willing to voluntarily offer to include design features or contribute amenities to the community that are not legally required if that might help ensure a “yes” vote on the rezoning application. Great care must be taken in the wording of these discussions with developers. There is no provision in the legislation for “selling zoning,” and common law tradition forbids the practice. If the provision of voluntary amenities is a consideration in rezoning separate legal contractual arrangements may be required to ensure that they are provided.

A rezoning that narrows the uses that are permitted on a property, changes the permitted use to less valuable ones, or which reduces the permitted density of development, is often called a “down-zoning.” Since down-zoning can result in lower property values or loss of development opportunity, from the owner’s perspective this may seem like an unfair infringement on property rights. However, in our Common law tradition, “property rights” are subject to whatever laws are duly enacted, and down-zoning is permitted without the owners’ consent. Section 458 of the LGA provides that no compensation is payable to the owner for any resulting reduction in the value of the land (provided that the zoning does not restrict the use of the land only to public uses).

Developers of multi-phase projects that may take years before final completion may desire assurance that the zoning will not change in the meantime, especially if they obtained their zoning in consideration of amenities that they have offered the community. Sections 515-522 of the LGA enable phased development agreements which can provide such assurance for up to ten years, or 20 years with the approval of the Inspector of Municipalities.

The first of these has already been mentioned: a development permit can provide flexibility, provided that it is related to the purpose of the development permit area.

Alternatively, on application of an owner, a local government may, by resolution, issue a development variance permit that relaxes the provisions of a regulatory bylaw (e.g., zoning, subdivision servicing, parking, etc.). A development variance permit may not vary use, density, flood plain specifications, or a phased development agreement [LGA s. 498-499]. Notice must be given to the owners and tenants of nearby properties. Although no public hearing is required, councils and boards usually provide an opportunity for affected parties to express their views on the variance.

As a third alternative, if site circumstances create a hardship for the owner to comply with the bylaw, the owner can apply to the Board of Variance (BoV) for a variance. All local governments that have zoning must establish a BoV. The types of variances that a BoV can approve are similar to those that the council or board can approve, however, the BoV may only order minor variances that address the hardship. It is possible that as appointed volunteers, BoV members may be more prone to make their decisions based upon the merits of the proposal rather than its popularity with the neighbours.

These two latter approaches to variance are separate from each other. An owner who has been turned down by one body can go to the other for an approval.

Development Cost Charge Bylaw

Development Cost Charges (DCCs) are fees that municipalities and regional districts choose to collect from new developments to help pay for the costs of specific off-site services that are needed to accommodate growth. The fees that are charged must relate to the average actual costs the local government expects to incur in developing the off-site services.

Local governments are limited in the types of services they may fund using DCC revenues. Specifically, DCCs may be used to help offset costs associated with the provision, construction, alteration or expansion of: waterworks, sewer trunks, treatment plants and related infrastructure, drainage works and major roads.

DCCs may also be collected to assist in the acquisition and development of parkland but may not be used to pay for other types of services. DCCs may be imposed on most, but not all, development in a community (e.g., not places of public worship). Monies raised must be placed in reserves and can only be used for the purposes for which they were collected.

The Inspector of Municipalities (Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing) must approve DCC bylaws and local government must be able to provide information to the public on how the cost charges were determined.

Subdivision Standards and Dedications

Section 514 of the LGA includes special provisions to allow subdivision of rural lots smaller than their zoning would normally permit to build a residence for a relative. The same section includes ability for local government to establish separate minimum lot sizes for such lots that can have the effect of moderating the provision.

A subdivision servicing bylaw sets out the standards for the infrastructure that the developer builds that will later be maintained by the public. This includes roads, sidewalks, boulevards, boulevard crossings, transit bays, street lighting and underground wiring, water systems, fire hydrants, sewage collection and disposal systems, and drainage collection and disposal systems. Connection to community water, sewer or drainage systems can be required. It may also require services to be provided adjacent to the subdivision or development that is directly attributable to that subdivision or development.

Unless the local government provides otherwise, subdividers are required to dedicate lands for parkland, highways and school sites or provide cash-in-lieu as a contribution to the local government's park acquisition fund. This requirement does not apply if the subdivision would create fewer than three additional lots. By default, the legislation requires that 5% of the land being subdivided is to be dedicated for parks. Local governments can decide to accept a lesser amount of land, may specify what types of land they want included in the parkland dedication, or may limit the subdivider's options regarding provision of cash-in-lieu instead of land. They do this through a parkland acquisition policy in their community plan. In the case of regional districts, they must have the parks function and provide parks services in order to receive cash-in-lieu.

Under section 574 and 577, a local government and school board may enter into an agreement respecting payments or the provision of land for school sites. The charges can apply to development at the time of subdivision or when building permits are issued. School site acquisition charges are set by school boards in accordance with a formula specified in sections 575-576.

Building Regulation

The BC Building Code (based on the National Building Code) sets the standards for the construction of and changes to buildings and applies across BC except on Federal lands and on First Nations reserves, unless a First Nation opts in or a treaty includes provision for the BCBC application. The BC Building Code applies to all construction whether or not the local government undertakes building inspections or requires a building permit.

Community Charter & Local Government Act

The Community Charter provides municipalities with general authority to regulate, prohibit or impose requirements related to buildings and other structures [s. 8(3)(l) and 53-58]. Regional district regulatory authority in relation to buildings is provided by the Local Government Act [s. 297-300]. Some Community Charter provisions also apply to regional districts [LGA s. 302].

Schedule F: UBCM Planning & Procedures Fact Sheet

Roles in Planning and Development Processes

Planning and development processes involve a great many individuals and groups in the community. The Local Government Act (LGA) recognizes special roles for many of these individuals and groups including:

- Local government - the Municipal Council or Regional District Board;
- Advisory Planning Commissions;
- Boards of Variance;
- Approving Officer;
- Building Inspector;
- Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing;
- Inspector of Municipalities; and
- Other Ministries (e.g. Agriculture, Environment and Climate Change Strategy, Transportation and Infrastructure).

Ultimately, however, the local elected representatives on the council or board are responsible for defining the development objectives of the community, and based upon a realistic strategy to achieve them, for developing appropriate policies and bylaws.

Local Government Powers

Parts 13, 14 and 15 of the Local Government Act provide both municipal councils and regional districts with a wide range of tools to manage land use. These include the power to adopt Official Community Plans (and for regional districts, a Regional Growth Strategy); adopt different kinds of regulatory bylaws; issue development permits; development variance permits and temporary use permits; decide whether other types of permits will be required; establish an Advisory Planning Commission; and determine Development Cost Charges and application fees. (Note that the Community Charter provides municipalities with additional powers related to land use such as the ability to regulate buildings and other structures and powers related to environmental protection).

The major distinctions between council and board powers in these areas relates to greater involvement in the adoption procedures by the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing who had an approval role for certain regional district bylaws. The Ministry's approval role was recently changed with Bill 17 adopted in 2014, which no longer requires for Ministerial approval of Regional District OCP, zoning, subdivision servicing, and temporary use bylaws.

Land Use Processes and Procedures

Ministerial approval is still required for the Resort Municipality of Whistler, the Resort Municipality of Sun Peaks, and Islands Trust. The LGA does provide discretionary authority for the Minister to require approval of regional district bylaws [LGA s.585].

The Local Government Act sets out requirements that municipalities and regional districts must follow in relation to the exercise of land use powers:

- adoption or amendment of a regional growth strategy [s. 436 & 452]
- adoption or amendment of an Official Community Plan [s. 477]
- public hearing procedures [s. 464-470]

In terms of procedures, the Act also requires:

- a development approval procedures bylaw to be adopted;
- a list of all bylaws and permits to be maintained for the public;
- public notice(s) of temporary commercial & industrial use permits; and
- filing or removing of a notice of certain permits on title in the Land Titles Office as part of the permit process.

A local government may, in addition to the procedures bylaw, prepare an application information package or procedures manual for applicants describing the steps for amendment or approval of permits and bylaws, the requirements to be met at each step, the relevant application forms indicating what information is required, and applicable fees. Such a manual is for information only and does not supersede a procedures bylaw.

Public Process Requirements

There is a requirement in the LGA that local governments must, during the development, repeal or amendment of an OCP, provide one or more opportunities for consultation with persons, organizations or authorities the local government considers would be affected. Section 475 provides a list of parties a local government must consider consulting. These include: the adjacent regional district and municipality; First Nations; school boards; greater boards, and improvement district boards; and provincial and federal government departments and their agencies.

The LGA requires public hearings for the types of bylaws that have the greatest potential to affect how people can use their property. A public hearing, together with the related public notice and information requirements, and the stipulation that deliberations must take place in an open session, are among the most important protections for people's rights that are associated with land use and other regulatory powers. In addition to the provisions contained in the legislation, the courts have inferred many restrictions and requirements related to these protections.

In addition to consulting during the development of an OCP bylaw, councils and boards are required by the legislation to conduct public hearings prior to third reading of OCP bylaws, zoning bylaws and heritage designation bylaws, as well as heritage revitalization agreement bylaws which would change the use or density of use of property. Local governments are also required to consider all applications for OCP and zoning bylaw amendments.

It is the responsibility of the chair of a public hearing to establish procedural rules for the conduct of the hearing, but these rules must meet certain court-established expectations of fair process.

The role of the public hearing is to provide an opportunity for the public to convey its views to the elected representatives. It is a venue for hearing, not debating. Care must be taken that the rules of procedure are fair to all and are applied even-handedly.

Any information that the council or board will be using for its decision-making must be made available for the public to review before the public hearing. Any person who believes that their interests would be affected by the bylaw being considered has a right to be heard at the public hearing. These individuals do not need to be a resident within the jurisdiction or own nearby property.

The full board or council need not attend every public hearing. Holding the hearing can be delegated to one of the board or council members, who is responsible for providing a written summary for his or her colleagues.

Advisory Planning Commission

A council may establish an Advisory Planning Commission (APC) to advise it on all matters referred to it by Council respecting land use, community planning or proposed bylaws and permits. A regional board may establish one or more APCs in its electoral areas for these same purposes [s. 461].

Elected officials and staff can attend APC meetings but they cannot be voting members. Some of the other features of an APC are:

- the APC procedures, composition and the types of matters it will consider can be set by the Council or Board in an APC bylaw.
- at least two-thirds of the members must be residents of the area;
- APC members do not receive remuneration but can be reimbursed for their expenses;
- APC meetings must be held in public, only going in-camera under the same circumstances that the council or board can meet in private;
- minutes must be kept and be made available to the public on request; and
- applicants for bylaw amendments or permits are entitled to be heard (others can be heard if the APC bylaw provides).

Board of Variance Any local government that has zoning must establish a Board of Variance (BoV). A regional district may appoint separate boards for different areas. The BoV may have three to five members depending on the community's population. Members are appointed by the local government.

The members of the BoV appoint their own chair. Procedures, other than those established in the legislation, must be specified in the bylaw that creates the board. BoV members cannot receive compensation, but appropriate expenses of each member must be paid from the annual budget of the local government.

A Board of Variance can determine if compliance with certain provisions of the zoning bylaw would cause undue hardship due to individual site circumstances, and if so, it may grant a minor variance from full compliance with the bylaw. Such a variance cannot vary the permitted uses and density established by zoning, substantially affect adjacent landowners, adversely affect the natural environment, or result in inappropriate development of the site or defeat the intent of the bylaws. conflict with covenants, land use contracts, or floodplain or heritage protection provisions. A decision of the BoV in granting a minor variance is final and cannot be appealed to the courts except on matters of legal interpretation.

Owners and occupiers of land which is the subject of an application before the board or which is adjacent to the subject land, must be informed that a variance has been requested and notified of the time and place where the application will be heard but the legislation does not require the BoV to hold a public hearing on the matter. Each board is responsible for maintaining a record of its decisions and for ensuring that it is available to the public.

A BoV may also determine if a building inspector's decision regarding the proportion of a building that has been damaged or destroyed is in error. This can be important if a "legal non-conforming" building that cannot be replaced under the current zoning is partially damaged. If an applicant or the local government feels the board has erred in its decision respecting the building inspector's determination of building damage, they can appeal the decision to the courts.

Approving Officer

The role of the Subdivision Approving Officer is primarily defined in the Land Title Act. The Approving Officer is appointed by council in a municipality, and is an official of the Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure in electoral areas outside of municipal boundaries.

While the Approving Officer may be a municipal employee, when acting in the capacity of Approving Officer he/she is responsible to the Province to carry out the statutory duties. An Approving Officer cannot receive policy direction from the council or board except through official channels such as bylaws (including the Official Community Plan), and even through those channels, cannot accept any instructions that conflict with the statutory responsibilities.

In considering approval of a subdivision, the Approving Officer must ensure: conformity with provincial legislation and local government bylaws; provision of infrastructure in accordance with the standards set by the local government's servicing standards bylaw; and require highway dedication and parkland acquisition. The Officer's decision is governed by the bylaws in place at the time of subdivision application and not amendments that local government may make in the interim.

Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing

The Minister's powers include the ability to:

- establish regulations regarding application and inspection fees, regulate installment payments of development cost charges; and
- require a Regional Growth Strategy

Previously, Ministerial approval was required for regional district OCPs, zoning, subdivision servicing, and temporary use bylaws. However, this was changed in 2014 with Bill 17. Ministerial approval is still required for the Resort Municipality of Whistler, the Resort Municipality of Sun Peaks, and Islands Trust. The LGA provides discretionary authority for the Minister to require approval of regional district bylaws [LGA s.585].

The Minister has a broad power under s. 584 of the LGA to intervene in any municipal and regional district land use matters if the minister considers a local bylaw to conflict with significant provincial interests.

Inspector of Municipalities

With respect to land use matters, the Inspector must approve all Development Cost Charge (DCC) bylaws [LGA s.560] and phased development agreements for a term longer than ten years [LGA s. 517]. The Inspector may also revoke approvals, and inquire into the status of development cost charge reserve funds and order monies transferred out of such reserves to other capital funds.

Other Ministries

The process of developing or amending an OCP will likely involve a number of provincial ministries and/or federal departments including:

Federal Government

Department of Fisheries and Oceans	fisheries
Transport Canada	airports, ports

Provincial Government

Environment	sensitive areas & provincial parks
Forests, Lands and Natural Resource Operations	Crown & privately managed forest land
Agriculture	Crown land, aquaculture
Transportation & Infrastructure	provincial highways

Others, such as the provincial Agricultural Land Commission, BC. Hydro and Ministry of Energy and Mines, may also be involved. Certain ministries are directly involved in local land use matters through provisions of the Local Government Act:

Environment:	floodplains and floodplain specifications [s.524]
Agriculture:	intensive agriculture regulations [s.551]

Transportation and Infrastructure: approval of permits for commercial and industrial buildings exceeding 4,500 m² [s.505] and zoning near highway intersections [Transportation Act s. 52].

Voting on Plans and Bylaws

All local government bylaws require passage by a simple majority of those present (or, in the case of regional boards, those entitled to vote under sections 196-197). Two exceptions are:

- OCPs require an affirmative vote of a majority of all Council members (or Board members eligible to vote) to pass [LGA s. 477]; and
- members absent from a public hearing can vote only if they have received an oral or written report of the hearing [LGA s. 470].

As an exception to the general rule that municipal bylaws can only be adopted one full day after third reading [CC s. 135], an OCP or zoning bylaw can receive final adoption at the same meeting it receives third reading [LGA s. 477(6), 480, 548(5)].

Participation in Regional District Planning

All electoral areas must participate in the planning function of a regional district. All municipalities must participate unless they have given notice that they do not wish to participate or they have established an agreement with the regional board to participate on a limited basis. Only those members participating and sharing the cost of the planning function can vote and the vote is on the basis of one person - one vote [LGA s. 206-2014].

Schedule J: Commission Work Plan 2022

Approved by Council February 2022

1. Background

Annual Work Plans are required for Advisory Bodies that are authorized (through their Terms of Reference or Establishing Bylaw) to undertake special projects or initiatives in support of their respective mandate.

These projects and initiatives are in addition to the Advisory Body's core duties as outlined in the Terms of Reference or Establishing Bylaw, and therefore require approval from Council. Inclusion of a project or initiative in an Annual Work Plan does not guarantee approval by Council - each proposed initiative will be evaluated within the context of the current Corporate Plan and Council's strategic priorities, as well as operational and budgetary implications, organizational capacity and available staff resources.

The Heritage Commission developed its Work Plan for 2022 in a facilitated workshop held on December 7, 2021, and adopted the Plan by unanimous resolution at its regular meeting on January 18, 2022.

The development of a Commission Work Plan is authorized in Heritage Commission Establishment Bylaw 4770:

8.3 The Commission may develop and submit an Annual Work Plan to Council for approval, in accordance with the Committee and Commission Policy.

a. Proposed projects, initiatives and volunteer development activities (conferences, workshops) contained within the Annual Work Plan should align with Council's current strategic priorities and other District plans and strategies, including the Oak Bay Heritage Plan and the Official Community Plan.

b. Council approval is required prior to implementation of the Annual Work Plan.

c. The Annual Work Plan may be amended, as required, with the approval of Council.

Bylaw 4770 further requires that the Commission prepare an Annual Report to Council:

8.4 If the Commission chooses to submit an Annual Work Plan to Council for approval, the Commission must also submit an Annual Report to Council in accordance with the Committee and Commission Policy. The Annual Report shall be completed in the form prescribed by the Corporate Officer, as may be amended from time to time, and shall include a description of the Commission's progress and achievements with respect to the activities proposed by the Commission and approved by Council in the Annual Work Plan.

The Heritage Commission is respectfully requesting Council approval of a $10,000 budget for its Work Plan in 2020, allocated as outlined under each specific initiative below.

3. Staff Input and Analysis

1. Volunteer Development for Commission Members

The District is committed to providing opportunities for ongoing volunteer development, beginning with a biannual Orientation Session for each Commission. The District is a member of Heritage BC, and this provides access to the organization’s training webinars and workshops. Access to training opportunities will assist the Commission members to be effective in their roles, and requires little to no additional staff time. In addition, providing access to Heritage BC webinars or other training during the Commission’s regular meeting time will help to ensure that meetings need not be cancelled when there is no heritage-related application or other Council referral for the Commission to consider.

2. Compile Reference Links for Heritage-Related Websites and Resources

This initiative is a volunteer-driven one that will require about two hours of staff time to coordinate. It will be a useful reference tool to include in the forthcoming Heritage Commission Orientation Manual.

3. Develop Recommendations to Update and Expand the Community Heritage Register

Commission assistance in updating the Heritage Register will complement the work of staff. Without the Commission identifying properties, assisting with research, and reviewing draft entries, staff would be required to carry out all the work in order to maintain, update and expand the Heritage Register. This work is not included in the staff work plan for 2022, however, the bulk of work forecast for 2022 – mainly research -- can be carried out by Commission members.

4. Heritage Best Practices

Of all the initiatives contained in this work plan, this one will require the most staff support and financial resources. However, this project is anticipated to have the greatest impact to the District’s operations, heritage planning efforts, and long-term management of heritage assets in Oak Bay. From the perspective of staff, there is a need to evaluate best practices and establish clear procedures and policy to support Council’s objectives. Although not directly included in the department work plan for 2022, an inventory of best heritage practices in BC communities, and a tool kit for use by Oak Bay staff, volunteers and Council will assist the District’s heritage conservation efforts.

In order to begin moving this important initiative forward with minimal impact on department resources, it is therefore proposed to engage the services of a contractor to manage the initiative in 2022. The limited number of Community Building and Planning Department staff hours, together with external resources to support this initiative, are considered to be a worthwhile investment to support the Council Strategic Plan and heritage planning in the District.

5. Heritage-Related District Website Updates

It is important to note that the Heritage Commission is aware that the District plans a significant update of the District's website in 2023. This volunteer-led initiative is intended to correct existing information, not to overhaul the heritage or heritage property pages currently housed on the District's site. The project will require minimal investment of time by Building and Planning Department staff. Once updates have been identified and developed by Commission members, in collaboration with the heritage Foundation and Archives, follow-up will be carried out by Communications staff in the Corporate Services Department. Website updates are estimated to take 10 to 15 hours by Communications staff.

Respectfully submitted,

Heritage Commission
